

Ed Miller's New CD -- Come Awa' Wi' Me

It's been almost 3 years since Ed's last CD, Lyrics of Gold; so he is delighted to announce the release of Come Awa' Wi' Me.

There's a bit of everything on this new production, including old traditional ballads; songs from the 20th century folk revival; and two or three very recent.....some just-learned and others that have been in Ed's memory since the 1960's

The song list is :

- | | |
|--|---|
| Walk The Road (Kate Rusby) | The Loch Tay Boat Song (trad.) |
| Scotland's Story (The Proclaimers) | Twa Recruitin' Sergeants (trad.) |
| Bonnie Bessie Logan (trad.) | The Ewe Buchts (trad.) |
| The Merchant's Son (trad.) | Listen tae the Teacher (Nancy Nicolson) |
| The False Lover Won Back (trad.) | The Wark o' the Weavers (trad.) |
| The Streets of London (Ralph McTell) | Let the Circle Be Wide (Tommy Sands) |
| The Thirty Foot Trailer (Ewan MacColl) | Gonna Get Through This World (Guthrie/Gutkin) |

Along with Ed's voice, the CD's main instrumental contributions come from Rich Brotherton, who not only showcases his brilliance on several stringed instruments; but is also producer, engineer and mixer. Brian McNeill added fiddle and concertina and E.J.Jones is on flute, whistles and pipes. Also helping create a great all-round sound are Michelle Hedden on bodhran, Kathy Brotherton on accordion, Scooter Muse on banjo, plus Jil Chambless and Ed's daughter Maggie on harmony vocals.
